Edwards Davis, the Actor, Advised of Death of His Motner.

While telling stories of eight years ago, when he was paster of the Central Christian church, calcland. Cal., after the performance at the Orpheum yesterday afternoon, Edwards Davis. the actor who is presenting the tragedy of "The Unmasking" this week, was handed a elegram which briefly informed him that his mother died in Pasadena, Cal., at 3 p. m. The little knot who had been laughing at his stories was thunderstruck at the quick change from comedy to grim trugedy. They did the lest they could under the circumstances by Mr. Davis, weeping like a child, who was nearly frantic. At least he broke away and went tearing down the stairs from Manager Bisters office on to State street, hysterical, and wringing his hands. Friends followed him and took him to his hote!

his hands. Eviends followed aim and too his hatel.

Mr. Davis, who has now been on the stage for eight years, believes that he is more adapt ed for eight years, believes that he is more adapt ed for the legitimate drama than the ministry. In his day, however, he was one of the most widely advertised ministers on the Pacific coast. When he started in Oakland he rented a large hall and in the face of a congregation of forty souls announced that if they would do the praying he would do the best to secure a large congregation. The sequel was that the pelice had to clear the way for street cars outside his church six weeks later when he was holding services.

side his church six weeks later when he was holding services.

His methods for securing a congregation were novel and his famous dancing sermen' has been quoted not only in the American, but the English. French and Australian press. His first sermen made him famous for he took a chair with him into the pulpit and, using it as a parmer, went through the motions of some many measures for the edification of his congregation. He followed this with readings from Richard III.' and a series of sermons on popular pastimes.

BOY WAS TRUTHFUL

He Gave Ma His Interpretation of the Text.

The number of dotting mothers who are ever ready with some clever story of the "cutest thing you ever heard," are legion. The best one told for many a day is being discussed over the five-o'clock tea cups as well as with coffee at breakfast. Tommy's reputation for truthfulness was nover doubted, and that young man had made for himself an enviable record in the neighborhood.

It was Sunday, and the weekly session of the Sunday-school had been closed. When Temmy reached home the first question from mamma was. "Mait was the text today, Tommy?"

"Don't worry, you'll get the quilt," was the prompt reply, as the small son hung up his overcoat. The number of dotting mothers who are ever Evangelist Coburn to Close His Labors in Salt Lake.

With the service at the First Bapitst church this evening at 7:45 o'clock Dr. Coburn of Phaton will probably close his evangelistic services in this city. He has been here for several weeks and, according to all reports has done a marvelous work here. He speaks today at noon at the Y M. C. A. and again at 3 o'clock at the First Bapitst church. The public is invited to attend any or all of these services. The meeting at the First Bapitst church last night was said to be the best yet held. The church was crowded to its full capacity, and more than fifteen men and women were converted to the faith. Bapitsms preceded the sermon by Dr. Coburn, which was from the trait. 'And the woman stretched forth her hand and touched the hem of his garment.' From this text Dr. Coburn preached a powerful sermon, and at its close had the pleasure of seeing more than fifteen people step forward and profess faith in Christ. When picked up he had a pint bottle of whisky on his person, but he showed no signs of intexication, though he maintained a very stubborn attitude. It is thought the name of Schmitt which he gave is fictitious. His only relative, he says, is a mother in some part of Russia. When he was removed to the hospital and stripped the bullet was found in the left hip pocket of his trousers. After it had entered the nipple it followed the ribs under the skin and deflected to the lumbar regions, leaving a mark, and depositing liself in his hip pocket. Schmitt is in no danger and will probably recover. He came to Ogden on January 31 and registered at the Windsor from New York. He had with him as baggage a suit case, containing nothing but two shirts, a very small handbag, which apparently contains papers, but is locked, and a good umbrella. # PRESIDENT ORDERS SEARCHING INQUIRY

Government Commission Will Probe Deep Into the Valencia Disaster.

UNITED STATES ATTORNEY IS ORDERED TO ASSIST

Inquisitorial Board Will Have Officer of United States Navy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.-By direction of the President a searching investigation will be made by a special commission into the disaster to the steamship Valencia, which occurred recently off the coast of Vancouver Island.

This investigation will be independent of that now being conducted by inspectors of the steamboat inspection service and was ordered after hearing representations from Senator Piles and Representative Humphreys of Washington, who main-tained to the President that the inquiry tained to the President that the inquiry by the steambout inspectors would not meet the present demands.

President Rooseveit took up the matter immediately with Secretary Metcaif, and it was at first intended that the board which investigated the cause leading to the Slocum disaster should make the in-quiry into that of the Valencia. That was found impracticable. Personnel of Commission.

Secretary Metcalf then announced that Secretary Metealf then announced that the commission would consist of Assistant Secretary Lawrence O. Murray of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Pilot Tells His Story of Attempted Rescue.

SEATTLE, Wash, Feb. 7.—Capt. Cox. the Victoria pilot, was the only witness before United States Inspectors Whitney and Turner at today's investigation of the Valencia disaster. His testimony in part is as follows:

"When we arrived at the scene of the wreck the weather was thick at times. A heavy sea was running from the southwest and also from the southeast, making a neaty cross sea.

west and also from the southeast, making a nasty cross sea.

"At times we could see people on the wreck. Shortly after we arrived the Czar and Salvor came along. We reported to the Czar the location of the wreck. Then a rain squall shut in everything. About that time the City of Topeka came along and ordered us to Victoria."

No One Volunteered.

"Did any man-of-war men go to Capt. Crusins and volunteer to go in?" was asked by Inspector Whitney. "No, came the reply. "Would you have been in a position to Yes, sir. I can positively state that no one went to Capt Cousins and volintered to go in.

Yes," continued the witness, in answer to a query from the inspector, "I knew a boat could have gone in, but it would never have come out with the same crew." Immediately after making this statement Capt. Cox, in speaking of a boat's chances for getting into the wreck, said.

I don't think she'd have gotten quite "I don't think she'd have gotten quite in to the wreck with the sea that was running—that is at the bow—she was lying with her bows out and the sea was breaking over them. I think the reason for the life rafts of the vessel getting out was due to the back swash from the cliffs. I think one would float out."

Nould the same lorge send a boat our almo?" was asked.

No, I think it would upset."

Capt. Cox then went on to testify that he did not think it would have been prudent for the Queen to have gone any closer. He says she was too big, but that a smaller vessel could have gotten much

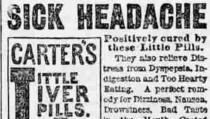

Capt. Cox stated that he thought the Queen was about two or two and one-half miles from the scene of the wreck. He also testified that he thought mention of the people on the wreck had been made to those on board the Topeka by Capt "If you had been master of the Queen, would you have sent a boat ashore?" was

"No, I would not."
"Would you have gone yourself?"
"Not in that sea."

TICKET SCALPING AT END

Supreme Court Upholds Law Prohibiting Sale of Cut-Rate Tickets.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 7.-The State Supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of a law passed by the Legislature in January, 1995, prohibiting the reselling or "scalping" of railroad tickets The sult in which this decision was ren-dered was begun by an association rep-resenting the various railroads centering in Portland, against C. H. Thompson, the principal "cut rate" ticket broker in this city. It was in the nature of a test case.

Several arrests were made under this law during the past year, the railroads winning in their contention in each of the trials in the lower courts.

Thompson was the only broker who carried the case to a court of last resort. The decision is a complete victory for the railroads and effectually puts an end to all forms of tloket scalping in this State.

"My 11-year-old boy is large, well developed and active, and has been made so by his fondness for Grape-Nu-food. At five years he was a very nevous child and was subject to frequent attacks of indigestion, which used to rob him of his strength and were very troublesome to deal with. He never seemed to care for anything for his breakfast until I tried Grape-Nuts, and I have never had to change from that He makes his entire breatfast of Grape-Nuts food. It is always relished by him and he says that it satisfies him better than the ordinary kind of a Special to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON D. C. Feb 7.—The Secretary of War has sent to Congress a report adverse to the suggestion that Cicarwater river, in Idaha, be imploved to make it navigable. The Secretary suggests that barge navigation would benefit lumbermen but not serve other interests sufficiently to warrant the expenditure.

Better than all, he is no longer troubled with indirection or nervousness, and has got to be a splendidly developed fellow since he began to use Grape-Nuts food." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Pend the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.
